

Apply Now!

Cohort of Champions

Youth Training Initiative

Want to be a Champion in training?

Apply Now to be a part of Mayor Rick Kriseman's Cohort of Champions Youth Training Initiative, a unique opportunity for 100 young men, ages 12 to 24, over the next year

The signature program of the city's My Brother's and Sister's Keeper initiative features Educational, Entrepreneurial Training and Enrichment Programs:

- Gain job skills
- Meet with mentors
- Find a job after school
- How to find and prepare for a career
- What to expect after college
- Sports and team-building outings
- Healthy cooking and eating workshops
- Learn how to start and operate a small business
- Learn about turning ideas and dreams into a career

The City is recruiting 100 young men ages 12 to 24 to participate in the first Cohort of Champions

More info + applications are available at your nearest St. Pete Parks + Recreation center, community library or online at stpete.org/MBSK

Applications are being accepted through November 30

St. Petersburg's one-year program begins in January 2017

For more about the program, workforce development and training for young men, contact Rev. Kenny Irby at 727-893-7808

City of OPPORTUNITY